Starting from beside the Minffordd playground, follow the footpath alongside the road towards Portmeirion until you reach a strip of woodland on your R. Take the path to the R, through the woods and through a gate into a field. Follow the field edge, keeping the fence to your R, head through the next gate. Here you'll reach a crossroads next to a barn. Follow the signposted track straight ahead (trending slightly uphill and to the L). You'll pass a pond on your R and then head through a farmyard.

At the turn, follow the Coast Path to the R, which will lead you through a gate into a field and then into a woodland. From the woods, follow the wooden arrow pointing to the right, which leads to a viewpoint with a picnic bench and views of the estuary and surrounding mountains. Follow the next arrow past the viewpoint and down into the woods along a dirt path. At the next fork you'll see some sculptures and a bug hotel. Turn R here and continue until you reach a track. Turn R along the track.

2

Take the footpath signposted L, which heads up a set of steps and through a gate before continuing uphill through a small woodland. At the next crossroads, head straight. This will lead you past the barn and into a field. Continue through the gate at the end of the field into the woods and turn L. Cross the road and follow the path alongside it which leads back to the start location.
