Dilynwch y llwybr cyntaf ag arwydd arno ar y Dd, gyferbyn â'r dafarn. Dilynwch hwn nes i chi gyrraedd cyffordd â thair gât mochyn. Ewch drwy'r giât yn syth ymlaen ac yna ymhellach i lawr y trac troi i'r Ch dros y wal, gan arwain trwy gae. Dilynwch y trac i fyny'r allt, gan wyro fymryn i'r Ch. Ewch drwy'r giât haearn las a dilynwch y trac i fyny'r allt, heibio'r bythynnod cerrig. Bydd y trac yn dechrau mynd i lawr yr allt ac yna'n ymuno â ffordd.

Os dewiswch y llwybr cyntaf, cymerwch ofal gan y gall fod yn llithrig pan fydd hi'n wlyb, ac mae'n agos at y dŵr. Yn y naill achos a'r llall, mae'r llwybrau'n cyfarfod ar ôl y rhaeadrau. O'r fan hon, parhewch gan ddilyn y llwybr troed, i fyny'r allt, heibio ffermdai Garth y Foel a Chae Glas ac i fyny at y ffordd. Trowch i'r Dd yma i gyfeiriad Croesor.

S This is hilly terrain and it is advised that you use the GPX file and a map to navigate. Starting from the Y Garreg café, follow the road North towards Beddgelert. Take the first path signposted on your R, opposite the pub. Follow until you reach a junction of three kissing gates. Head through the gate straight ahead and then further down the track turn L over the wall, leading through a field. Follow the track uphill, slightly to the L. Head through the blue iron gate and follow the track uphill, past the stone cottages. The track will begin to trend downhill and then join a road.

1 Along the road you'll encounter some stone houses with two paths signposted to the L. Take the second path (beside a large beech tree) which heads through a pair of iron gates and along a track. You'll pass over a ladder stile. The path will meet an open field, with a gate to your L leading to a bridge over a stream. Cross this and follow the signposted footpath.

2 At the fork, turn R. Following the path, you'll pass a series of waterfalls. There is a path which runs directly alongside the waterfalls, as well as another path that continues uphill but avoids the waters edge. If you choose to take the former, take care as it can be slippery when wet, and runs close to the water. In either case, the paths converge after the falls. From here, continue following the footpath, trending uphill, past Garth y Foel and Cae Glas farm houses and up to the road. Turn R here for Croesor.
