- S Starting from Alltygrug Park head out onto Clyngwyn Road bearing R at the finger post. Pass houses on R, go through barrier and turn L onto road/track heading uphill. Continue along this track for approx. three quarters of a mile (1.2 km) until you reach a T-junction. You are travelling through an area known locally as 'The Patches' along the 'White Road'. Go straight ahead at the junction crossing a stile to enter a field. Head across the field and two more (passing through multiple kissing gates) to reach Rhiwfawr Road.
- 1 Bear L here taking care to walk along the grass verge before re-entering a field on the L. Head R to reach a track, cross this and then up a small rise. Bear R heading back towards the road. Turn L taking care to cross the road and use the pavement. Continue along road turning L at footpath sign by the bus stop/phone box. Ahead and R you will notice a lovely boardwalk, looping around Rhiwfawr Community Hall, you may wish to explore this peaceful area. Turn L across footbridge entering field through gate. Head R and down towards gate.
- 2 Turn L along gravel track then R over a stile into field. Alternatively continue straight down the track avoiding two stiles and fields. Head straight across the fields, over another stile onto the track. Bear L and continue along track as it bends R. Follow the path through a gate to the R of the farmhouses. Having gone through a gate/ over a stile you are now heading out into more rugged land. Follow the path ahead crossing some small sleeper footbridges. Take the stile, the path then sweeps around to the R between fences.
- 3 After the next footbridge bear L towards the tree line, take the kissing gate and continue in this direction eventually arriving at a stony track accessed via a stile. Cross track and take the waymarked kissing gate, continue following the path gradually heading uphill through a further three gates and marshy fields. Cross stile onto muddy/stony track of Gilfach-Yr-Haidd Farm. Follow track ahead for 0.46 miles / 740m keeping L at the fork. At the tree eating public footpath sign cross the stile to the L and follow the path downhill.
- 4 Continue as the path winds its way down to the fence line, proceeding with caution as there is a particularly steep section here. Bear L so the fence line is on your R and head through kissing gate on R. Pass through a second kissing gate with farm buildings coming into view. Continue past the rear of the buildings on the R emerging into the yard. Follow the stony track as it heads downhill passing a kissing gate on the R. Turn L onto Penywern Road and cross over to signposted staircase on the R.
- 5 Descend steps and follow path through small woodland. Keep an ear out for Woodpeckers drumming as you wander along. At the path junction, with houses/gardens ahead, turn L, emerging onto Alltygrug Road after a short distance. Following the road downhill turning L at the bottom arriving back onto Clyngwyn Road and your starting point.
