Starting from the junction of Wembley Road and Graig y Merched bear R then turn immediately L at the finger post sign. Climb the steps and continue following the path uphill through two kissing gates. Emerging from the tree line follow the waymarking posts as you continue ascending. On a clear day enjoy the scenery with extensive views down the Swansea Valley and looking back to Pen y Fan in the Brecon Beacons. Bear R at the fenced quarry continue uphill following the fence line on your L.

1

Proceed with care as this section here can be scrambly. Head through gap in fenced enclosures on L onto stony track and continue upwards through kissing gate ahead. With a disused kissing gate and waymarking post ahead follow the track around and continue heading uphill. Pass through the farmyard bearing R and head through the gate on the R. Follow the path along the fence line on your R passing through two kissing gates. At a third kissing gate turn R onto the road heading downhill. Turn R at T-junction along stony road.

2

At the tree eating public footpath sign cross the stile to the L and follow the path downhill. Continue as the path winds its way down to the fence line, proceeding with caution as there is a particularly steep section here. Turn L so the fence line is on your R and head through kissing gate on R. Pass through a second kissing gate with farm buildings coming into view. Continue past the rear of the buildings on the R taking the grassy path straight ahead, passing a disused stile on the L. Follow the path to the next farm house.

3

Admire the handcrafted metal footpath signs as you pass the farm house on L. Continue straight ahead along stony track. Turn R through the signposted kissing gate onto the road. Follow the road downhill passing a telephone box on the L. Take the next turning on R after Clare Road and continue ahead to the path junction (Litter bin ahead). Turn R then L at the finger post onto Clare Road. The old Wern School building is found directly ahead, its foundation stone laid in 1903 teaching ceased at the school in the Summer of 2018.

Turn L downhill and follow the road round to the R, passing the old school buildings and yard. At the end of School Road turn R onto Penywern Road then immediately L onto Wembley Road. See if you can spot the Pigs in the yard as you head along Wembley road returning to the start of the route.
