Starting from the bridge over the river and with the pub behind you, take the bridleway on your L (parking is available at the pub for £1). This pleasant path will lead you up through the trees to join a track. On meeting the track turn L and follow until you enter Graig Wyllt nature reserve. A short distance into the reserve at the bottom of a woven fence take the stone stile on your L. Follow the path downhill until you meet the road.

1

Cross over the road and follow the footpath down to Melin Garth Gynan. The path here veers R towards the farm buildings. Take the first field gate on the L after the Mill. Follow the L hand boundary edge once in the field. You will pass above the Mill. Keep following this boundary edge across two fields and you will reach the track at Glan yr Afon.

2

At Glan yr Afon turn left crossing over the old bridge and following the path to the stream. Keeping the stream on your R pedestrian gates will lead you to a track by some houses. Shortly after a gate takes you to a path next to the stream. Do not cross over the bridge. Keep left through the second gate with the stream on your R. This will lead you back to the road and your starting point.
