S Starting from the Fairy Glen Hotel, head along Conwy Old Road, past the rows of white houses on your left until you reach a detached house with stone steps alongside. Head up these steps and through the wooden kissing gate to begin the ascent. Follow the path uphill and through the woods. You'll come to a crossroads just past a white cottage. Follow the track which continues uphill.

1 Stay on the track, which hugs the dry stone wall to your L. At the end of the wall, you'll see a green shepherd's hut. Follow the track to the R past Tyddyn y Ffrith. The track will lead you past a large white stone showing directions to some of the interesting paths and historic sites in the area, before trending downhill towards a small car park.

2 At the car park, follow the path between the two stone pillars and around Foel Lüs. This path - known as the Jubilee Path - was built in 1887 to commemorate Queen Victoria's Golden Jubilee. It features stunning views of the surrounding coastline and impressive heather blooms during the summer months.

3 Following the Jubilee Path, you'll pass several memorial benches before reaching a junction with a wooden fingerpost and a telephone pole. Follow the Conwy Council waymarked route straight ahead, and then take the lower path at the next fork (which drops down slightly to the L). This path will lead you to another path junction in approximately 200m adjacent to a small stream.

4 Cross over the stream and follow the path L around the ridge. At the next junction you will reach a metal signpost indicating the track you followed during the ascent. Turn L here to follow the track downhill. Continue downhill past the white cottage and through the woods to return to the start location on Conwy Old Rd.
