- S Starting from Penparcau Hub, walk along the pavement from the A487 and head south towards Cardigan. Follow the road into Rhydfelin and then turn R, following the road toward Morfa Bychan. Continue along the road and cross the bridge. Continue to follow the road and turn R at the fork in the road towards Plas Tanybwllch. Continue along the lane until you come to a signpost to take a R leading onto a footpath. Follow the footpath until you come to the coast and Tan Y Bwlch beach.
- 1 Take a L turn onto the coastal path and climb up the bank. Follow the coastal path (which is well sign posted) and continue past Morfa Bychan on your R. Continue past the bench and viewpoint, along the track past a farm building on your R, then slightly further along to pass another farm holding on your R. Just after the holding, there will be a footpath on your L.
- 2 Take the L turn, leave the coastal path and join the footpath. Follow the footpath across the fields and over the stiles, then drop down the hill to join a tarmac road. Take a L turn onto the road and continue along the road past a farm holding on your R, just above the buildings there is a footpath on your R. Head through the gates and along the footpath and through the fields. You will then come to a three way junction where you turn L onto the bridleway, leading below the woodland.
- 3 Follow the bridleway through farmland, you will eventually come through a farmyard. Continue along the track until you come to a tarmac road where you take a R. Follow the road until a T junction where you turn L. The road, which then curves around to the R and down a hill where Llanychaearn church will be on your L. Continue along the road which joins the A487 in Rhydfelin. Turn L on the A487 and continue along the pavement back to Penparcau Hub.
