- Starting from the Ucheldre Centre, cross over the road towards the playing field and follow the footpath which runs alongside it. This path will lead you around to a gate on the other side of the field, leading into a marshy paddock. Follow the path along the edge of the paddock and through the gates until you reach an open area with telephone poles and a hillock ahead. Head straight over the hillock to the next kissing gate. This marks the edge of Tre Wilmot site of special scientific interest.
- Head through the kissing gate and continue through the woods. This path will lead through a series of paddocks and out to the road. Turn R on the road and then take the next signposted footpath through the gate on your R, into an area of gorse and heather. Follow the path through this area which leads over the rocky hillock and through the gorse to a stile on the far side, crossing a dry stone wall. From here, continue straight across the field and over the wooden stile through the hedge.
- Follow the footpath along the edge of the next field to the road. Turn L and then take the first footpath off the road on your L, over a stone stile. Follow this path past the cemetery and along Maeshyfryd Rd. Turn L onto Gwynfa Hill and then head straight onto Mill Bank. Follow Mill Bank past the Chester Hotel and back to the Ucheldre Centre.
